Alberta Public Housing Administrators' Association (APHAA) promotes the continued development and education of all members. Our membership agrees to maintain and continually strive to improve their professional standards.

As leaders in a non-profit organization that receives housing operational dollars from government, our members value the practice of their profession with honesty, objectivity, prudent judgment and integrity.

- A member shall perform work responsibilities with the highest degree of professionalism in accordance with the goals and vision of their organization.
- A member shall act in accordance with applicable laws, legislation and regulations.
- A member shall demonstrate due diligence and dedication in the management, maintenance and protection of all organizational assets and to minimize risk whenever possible.
- A member shall foster a culture that promotes respect for others, their choices and their privacy.
- A member shall take responsibility for their actions and decisions and the interests of those who are affected.
- A member shall strive to maintain a safe and healthy environment for their organization.
- A member shall avoid in the engagement of any activities that are in conflict with the fiduciary, ethical or legal obligations.
- A member shall effectively disclose any and all potential or actual conflicts of interest.
- A member shall conduct themselves in a creditable manner and not engage in any activity that might harm another member, another association, or those we serve within the industry.
- A member shall promote and encourage the highest level of ethics within the industry.
